our gold customers who might happen to be on vacation, or who live outside the U.S. whose return mail is considerably slower.

All proof issues will be released that way throughout the entire 1988 release set. Unreleased versions will be available for an extended time period as open inventory.

Our newsletter, "THE GALLERY MINT REPORT," will keep you informed.

"Is there any way I can be guaranteed to acquire the entire PROOF set?"

Yes! Since there are only 300 proof gold sets for release there is only a total possible of 300 complete proofs! The only way you can be absolutely sure not to miss a single proof issue is to go with the PRE-PAID SUBSCRIPTION! Here's how it works:

1. Pay for the entire 14 piece series advance for a total of $887 plus a charge of $50.00 S&H for the 14 individual shipments.
2. Pay for the 16 piece set of copper and silver only for a total of $327 plus $40.00 S&H for 16 shipments.

Your only other alternative is to go "piece by piece", and pay for just the proof issues, and take your chance in the draws.

In the unlikely event we receive more pre-paid orders than we can fill, those will go onto a lottery to determine who will receive a purchasing right to those sets. Otherwise PRE-PAID SUBSCRIPTIONS

WILL BE GIVEN PRIORITY, and the remaining single piece orders will be released through the drawing. For example they are all 160 pre-paid sets. Those subscribers will receive the first 120 releases with 600 single pieces available through the random lottery from orders received.

Another advantage of subscribing to the entire 16 piece set, at this point you are guaranteed to receive every piece in the set at the proposed prices we have listed. Out of the funds we receive we will purchase the metals in advance at today's market price. These metals will be physically stored in our gold and silver pool account at Hoover & Strong Corporation. When the coins are ready for a given price, these metals will be used to us for striking and then shipped immediately, to pre-paid subscribers.

Since all gold densities in proof coins prior to 1988 will be no additional charges as you since the metals will already be purchased and ready for striking. The only way you would have to pay extra is to adjust for any unlikely dramatic increases that could happen between now and when we purchase metals shortly after August 1st.

Some people requested a plan such as this more for insurance than assurance to reserve such pieces. That is why we also offer these subscriptions for the open markets unreserved now. A plan by ordering the metal looks you into the prices we are currently advertising, and protects you from any unforeseen price increases that may occur if you pay for those pieces by piece. You do not need to subscribe to the entire unreserved set prior to be able to acquire the entire set. You can pick them up as they become available.

Start at the projected price schedule. Only the Quarter Dollar is available at this time. No releases on any other single piece will be accepted at this time. You will be notified about every two months when the next piece is available. If you are not the pre-paid plan, you necessarily incur a much price via跳跃或 increased cost as they become available.

Gallery Mint Museum breaks ground

BURKE SPRINGS, W.V. — Gallery Mint coin collectors Lucas and Sue Flax have moved just another step toward their goal of building a process of coin minting technology. On June 8th heavy equipment began work on the $1 million site in residence for a 10,000 sq. ft. factory that will house an expanded minting shop and retail shop. The new addition will accommodate a new striking press, a new rolling mill, and a new rolling mill. An expanded engraving area will accommodate a new profiling press, weight press, and a revised rolling machine used in plate engraving.

The new addition will also make room for a new display area showcasing the continuing tradition of minting that makes the year 2000 the second oldest business location outside of Boston, Mass. The construction is expected to be completed by September of 2000.

With the new shop in place plans are to begin the resulting expansion and presents that will be used in the future coin minting exhibition. Standard coins, rolling mills, the surface weight press, and all the other pieces there will go into the exhibit will be replaced with as much history as possible will allow.

The funding for this project comes directly from the sales of coins and accessories around the globe and. For more information, or to subscribe to the newsletter.
